FOR many years I have been campaigning for pay and display car parking in Lymm – and at long last it looks set to become a reality in the Spring!

I wouldn't want to claim any the credit for this common sense approach, which has at long last filtered through to the powers that be at the town hall but I am sure it will be a big step towards revitalising trade in the village.

The number of empty premises has become a little worrying but landlords, who expect unrealistic rents, have caused some of this.

In recent months we have seen the loss of the village off licence, and the local optician – both long established businesses in the village centre.

I have heard other businesses are up for sale because of the high rent demands being placed upon them.

With pay and display parking on the horizon it will hopefully make the village centre more attractive for those travelling in from the outer areas.

I am sure the annual Dickensian Festival will help provide a much needed boost and everyone here at Lymm Life would like to wish everyone all the best for Christmas and the New Year.

See you all in the New Year – when we will be celebrating our 10th anniversary!

Boost for day care unit

THE St Rocco's Hospice appeal to raise funds for a new Day Unit had an early Christmas present thanks to the generosity of patients, friends and staff of the Lymm Osteopathic Clinic.

The clinic, in Grammar School Road, organised an early Christmas shopping fair and over 150 people arrived to buy candles, gift bags and tags, jams and preserves, Sparkle jewellery and Christmas cards while others, enjoyed a soothing massage donated by the clinic's practitioners. The day's events raised £2,062.

Practice owner, Suzette Pulman said: "We were amazed at the support we got for this worthwhile charity. Interestingly, besides raising a fantastic amount, it was lovely to see people who hadn't met for years, meeting and catching up with friends. Altogether it was a marvellous, if hectic, day."

A new role for Rene

LYMM'S wine shop may have closed – but a familiar character who inhabited the shop night and day for the last three years will not be leaving the village.

Rene, the comical Frenchman who sat outside the shop with a glass of wine in all weathers, has been officially presented to the Lymm Festival.

Every year, Rene changed his normal suave, sophisticated image somewhat to take part in the Festival scarecrow competition.

Now he has moved in with scarecrow competition organiser Pam Hunter.

But he has not gone into retirement. Pam intends to use him to publicise the competition each year and he will also play a role in the annual Food Fest.

Rene was created by Julie Hatton, who managed the wine shop for more than 20 years but who, sadly, died 18 months ago.

Jean Hughes, assistant manager for more than 14 years said: "I am pleased Julie's creation is to live on. Rene now has a new role in the Lymm Festival and will continue to play a part in village life."

"He was always an attraction and has had his photograph taken with countless visitors."

Rotary Christmas float

THE annual Lymm Rotary Club Christmas float will be taking to the streets of Lymm and Thelwall from December 4-23.

Santa will be on Lymm Cross on Saturday December 20 and also be making his first appearance at Sainsburys Warrington on Saturday Dec 14.

'Jumbles Wood' is back on sale

'JUMBLES Wood' – the children's book inspired by incidents in Lymm over the years – has been reprinted and is again on sale in the village.

Lymm journalist David Skentelbery, who wrote the book after years of reporting on news items in and around the village, arranged for a reprint after local shops ran out of copies earlier in the year.

The book has also sold well in other areas and resulted in David receiving messages from people he hadn't seen for years, including a former next door neighbour and the person who bought his house when he lived at Croft!

He was even approached and asked to sign copies when he was on holiday in Cornwall.

The book tells the story of how a group of animals enlist the aid of a mysterious wizard to try to defend their woodland homes when humans start to build houses nearby. The fictional Jumbles Wood is partly based on Helsdale Wood at Oughtrington.

It is on sale at a number of shops in Lymm including Laura's Choice, The Sweet Shop and Burnett's Premier Store.

Playground approved

HOUSE builders Countryside Properties have finally won permission for a children's play area on their Heatley Mere development at Lymm.

The borough council's development control committee had earlier deferred a decision on the application for the playground on land off Millington Gardens following complaints about the colour, scale and type of playing equipment proposed.

More than 20 nearby residents had objected.

Following talks with the developer an agreement had been reached over the painting of boundary railings and the positioning of a climbing frame to minimise impact on nearby houses.

The meeting was told the play equipment had already purchased on basis of plans approved in 2004.

Christmas hazards for pets

HERE are some common potential hazards that your pet can encounter over the festive season.

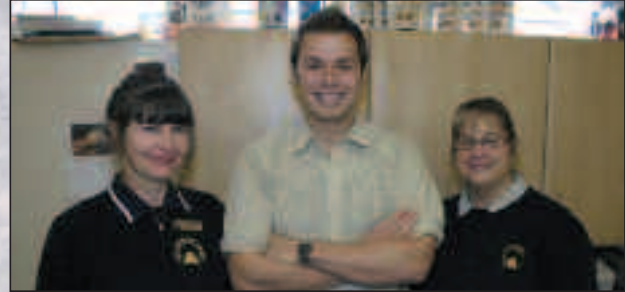

Cats are notorious for consuming tinsel and ribbon, which can become stuck in the intestine and cause it to bunch up like an accordion. This condition is painful and requires surgery to correct it.

Never give your cat or dog tinsel to play with. Cats and dogs also see shiny baubles as potential playthings; however these can be knocked off a tree and can smash on the floor causing a danger for pets.

Some cats are fond of eating houseplants but remember that several festive plants are poisonous including holly, mistletoe and poinsettia. Always keep these well out of reach of mischievous cats.

The majority of Christmas related cases that vets see are food related. The leading problem is chocolate toxicity. Chocolate is toxic to almost all animals. A lethal dose for a medium sized dog is about 10 squares of dark chocolate – if your pet ingests chocolate, phone the vet for advice. Onions and garlic are also toxic to animals as they contain compounds which destroy red blood cells, so avoid these at all costs.

Giving your pet his or her 'Christmas dinner' can also cause problems – our pets are not used to eating rich, high fat foods so they can suffer from indigestion and sometimes vomiting and diarrhoea.

Overall, prevention is better than cure. As long as you are aware of the hazards, you can prevent them and ensure you and your pet have a lovely Christmas.

Merry Christmas from all at Lymm Veterinary Surgery.

Farmer's market

A FARMER'S Market is to be held at Lymm on Sunday, November 30 - to raise funds for a new boiler at Oughtrington Community Centre.

An emergency fund has been set up at the centre after the boiler, which heats the older part of the building where the pre-school is located, broke down.

Since then, temporary heating has had to be used to keep the building warm.

The farmer's market will be at the community centre and will feature produce from local farms and local arts and handicrafts.

It will be open from 10am to 2pm.

Singer releases debut single

A LYMM recording artist has released his debut single.

Daniel Tse, who has lived in Lymm since the age of three, is also set to issue his debut album with production company Hi-Li.

It was recorded by the producers who have worked with artists such as Go West and Rick Astley.

Daniel, 28, is also an accomplished guitarist and says his inspiration comes from artists like The Beatles and Crowded House.

His debut single, Broken Wing (a pop/rock based song) was released at the end of October and the album Inner Sense, from which it was taken, was released on November 17.

Daniel said: "The music industry is really difficult to break into so if the people of Lymm and Warrington could get behind me and help get my single onto a good chart position that would mean the world to me."

"The main thing I want in life is to entertain people with my music. I'm so lucky to be working with such great names and I really hope it all pays off."

Readers can sample Daniel's music at his website www.daniel-tse.com

Takeaway shop plans defeated by people power

THREE controversial planning applications on Lymm's Heatley Mere housing development were thrown out by planning chiefs after a massive demonstration of 'people power'.

An estimated 200 local people attended a meeting of the borough council's development control committee to object to two proposals for hot food takeaway shops – one either side of a hair and beauty salon in Choise Meadow.

Local councillors Ian Marks, Bob Barr and Sheila Woodyatt lodged strong objections to both proposals - and Coun Woodyatt also opposed the third application for a shop off Calton Road.

The council received more than 90 individual letters of objection and a protest petition signed by 286 residents in respect of the takeaways.

Objections were based on impact on nearby houses, parking and highway safety issues, litter, fumes and anti-social behaviour.

Residents also claimed they had been assured when they bought homes on the estate that there would be no developments of this type.

Planning officers had recommended both schemes be approved. They said the plans were in accord with the borough's unitary development plan and that any impact on residents, highway safety and the character and appearance of the street scene would not be unduly harmful.

The third application, from local property developer Robert Foden, was for a single-storey shop unit adjoining the existing Co-op store.

But nearby residents voiced fears of parking and highway safety problems, impact on the Trans Pennine Trail and the effect on living standards of adjacent houses.

They also feared the possibility of the shop subsequently being converted to a takeaway.

Officers again recommended the scheme be approved and argued that there would be no impact on residential amenity or the Trans Pennine Trail.

Since the applications one of the premises has been leased as a womens boutique, leaving just one vacant unit.

Lions hand out donations

LYMM Lions members Ken Scully and Linda Barnes are pictured presenting a cheque for £200 to St Rocco's Hospice in the village. Other recent donations have included £200 to Kabuki Research, £250 to Lymm Housebound Club, £250 to Oughtrington Luncheon Club and £250 to Oughtrington Community Association.

Lymm Lions would like to thank all those in the community who have so generously supported their fund raising activities throughout the summer months.

Late night ope

AS Lymm prepares for its ever popular Lymm Dickensian Festival traders in the village are to stay open later on the last four Thursdays before Christmas to give villagers an opportunity to avoid the 'madding crowds'.

Most traders in the village centre have agreed to stay open until 8pm on November 27 and December 4, 11 and 18.

The move is the latest initiative by Lymm Village Traders, the new group working the revitalise the shopping centre.

Representatives have also been meeting the parish council and Warrington Borough Council over the vexed issue of parking in the village.

The result was a confident prediction that pay-and-display parking will be introduced on all three car parks in the centre of the village - possibly as soon as the end of March.

Traders' chairman Phil Sexton said: "The meeting was every positive and I am very confident pay and display WILL be introduced."

A survey is being carried out on car parks in the village and the likely impact of pay and display parking on surrounding roads. When feedback has been gathered and assessed - probably by early January - the scheme should be ready to be implemented by the end of March.

Mr Sexton added: "Within six months we can expect to start to see something happening to alleviate Lymm centre's woes."

Talks have also been held with Lymm Rugby Union Club over the possibility of the club making out-of-village parking space available for shopkeepers and their staff to free up space for shoppers during the day.

The idea is for "affordable" parking fees of perhaps £2-a-day.

Improved signage is also planned so that visitors to Lymm - particularly to the Dam - who currently do not even know the village centre exists are guided to the shops.

Traders are also discussing the possibility of Sunday opening or standardising closing days.

Housing plan for garage site

OUTLINE plans for a development of six two and-a-half storey houses on the site of the former Lymm Service Station, in Booths Hill Road, have been given the green light by planners.

The borough council's development control committee approved the scheme despite an objection from Coun Sheila Woodyatt and a nearby resident.

Approved

Councillors were told that a similar application was approved in 2004 and the new plan effectively renewed the previous consent.

There would be a block of six dwellings served from a single access off Booths Hill Road with communal car parking in front of the properties and separate garden areas at the rear. Coun Woodyatt argued that two and-a-half storey houses would have an overbearing impact on adjoining properties and would be out of character with the area.

Tax Return deadline looming – you'll need to do it online

If you haven't already heard, this year the taxman brought forward the deadline for filing a paper return to 31 October 2008.

If you have not already submitted your return for the year ended 5 April 2008, you must now do it online before 31 January 2009. If you do not submit by that date, you will incur a fine.

If you have never submitted your return online before don't worry - there are a number of benefits:

- More time to collect all the relevant information – the deadline is 31 January 2009
- Easier tax calculation - the online service has an automatic calculation
- Confirmation receipt – you can be certain your submission has been received
- Repayments are quicker – if you are lucky enough to be owed some tax back, it is repaid more quickly than when submitted manually
- 24/7 service – you can access the service at any time
- Account management – you can view an update on your tax account at any time

Caution!

If you have several income streams, or your affairs are complicated in any way, you should consider carefully, how you submit your details, as the data you input could affect your overall tax liability.

Points to consider. There are several areas to consider when preparing the information for your tax return and a regular review of your status is a must.

- Employed by your limited company – are you affected by the new service company rules?
- Sole-traders – are you claiming all the expenses you are entitled to?
- VAT registration – if your turnover has changed considerably over a recent period, you should consider registering / de-registering depending on your future plans.

If you are still unsure about how you should go about your online submission, or would like advice relating to your income, and how to minimise your tax liabilities, our tax team are here to help you.

Please note that these ideas are intended to inform rather than advise and you should always obtain professional advice before taking any action

If you would like more information on this or any of the previous subjects we have featured, please contact Les Styles or Ian Lloyd on 01925 761600.

2's Company

WHEN 2's Company played their first-ever gig at Rosco's in Lymm village on Easter Sunday 2007, little did they know that 18 months later they would be the new owners of the place!

Paul Lockett and Alley Clarke have taken over from the previous owner, Jimmy Capps and have re-christened the bar 'The Venue' a place where things are going to happen.

Alley and his wife Lynne moved to Lymm in 1986, with Paul and Paula arriving 13 years later. Between them they have five children who have all gone to Oughtrington Primary and the two older ones are now at Lymm High.

They absolutely love Lymm and now consider themselves locals. They regularly play their acoustic style of music all round the pubs of Lymm - The Jolly Thresher, The Star and Home have all been hosts to 2's Company.

They enjoy helping to raise funds for local charities - Dickensian Day, Kabuki Syndrome, St. Peter's Church, Lymm Scouts, Lymm Rugby Club, Oughtrington and Little Bollington Schools, Cotebrook Home for Physically Handicapped Adults and the Salvation Army Hostel in Warrington have all benefitted from musical events with Paul and Alley.

They fell in love with the bar as soon as they saw it. It has a modern feel to it, different from anywhere else in the area, and the regulars range from 21 years old to a lot older than that! They love their music and want everyone in this beautiful part of Cheshire to have the opportunity to participate - Lymm has got talent and they are determined to give it the chance to flourish.

Every Thursday night is open mike night where anyone who has the talent, ability and courage will have the opportunity to play in front of a real live audience in a warm and friendly atmosphere. Where else can you be entertained with free live music - we're not talking Karaoke - we're talking about local musicians doing it for the fun of it. If you fancy having a go you will be made so welcome.

Manager Jay Horsley is well-respected around the bars of Lymm, not only as a chef and wine connoisseur but as a hard-working bar manager who is always looking to improve the business and give the customers

Awakening

non laser tattoo removal

Don't let an unwanted or unsightly tattoo stop you from wearing the clothes you want or stand in the way of your career!

Are you fed up of wearing long sleeve shirts in the summer, or covering up when everyone else is stripping off?

Or perhaps your tattoo serves as an all too permanent reminder of an uncomfortable or unwanted memory?

Why laser Removal Fails

Laser removal relies on using high energy pulses of light at specific wavelengths to smash the tattoo pigment so it may be absorbed by the body. The wavelengths must be varied according to skin colour, what colour pigments are to be removed, the type of ink used, and according to the depth of the tattoo. Green and yellow are also difficult pigments for the lasers to eliminate due to the fact that they reflect most of the light energy. As all pigments can be traced back to the three primary colours red, yellow and blue, it becomes clear that while initially effective, remaining pigment elements can be difficult, if not impossible for laser to totally eliminate.

Semi-Permanent Make-Up Invest in your own Natural Beauty

With its advanced new techniques and procedures will enhance your natural beauty and give your features shape and definition without ever having to visit your make-up bag. The procedure is completely and effectively used for a variety of semi-permanent cosmetic enhancements:- Eyeliner, Eyebrows, Lip Liners. Women of all ages are experiencing the difference micropigmentation can make. After just one procedure you can have stunning smudge free make-up that will last for several years.

Until recently getting an unwanted tattoo removed has been a daunting task, but now there is a revolutionary method of ink extraction developed in the USA to remove that tattoo quickly, easily and permanently.

The Rejuvi system works much like having the original tattoo, but instead of ink uses a specially formulated cream that bonds with the original tattoo ink and draws it to the skin surface. The cream doesn't remain in the skin, or replace the tattoo and the treatment is so effective that a tattoo can usually be completely removed in just three or four sessions, compared to the dozens of treatments required by laser removal methods.

Ben's cooking has the X-factor!

A FIVE-year-old Lymm schoolboy has the school meals X-factor.

Ben Copeland, a pupil at Oughtrington Primary, cooked-up a mouth-watering healthy food recipe in the X-factor style competition organised by the borough council.

His prize was free school meals for half-a-term, a £20 gift voucher and, more importantly, his dish going on the menu for school dinners across Warrington after Christmas.

His recipe was "Ben's Fruity Flapjacks" and it was one of only five winners out of more than 500 entries.

The competition was launched to meet the recommendations of a recent Ofsted report into schools meals which suggested the involvement of pupils in drawing up school menus.

Overzealous jobsworth

Alyson Gallagher

I would just like to comment on the absurd over zealous parking attendant who was working in Lymm on Saturday (Oct 4). I watched in disbelief as he gave a ticket to a vehicle parked outside the card shop and took pictures to justify this because the car was marginally outside the allocated parking zone and so its bumper was on the double yellow lines.

However, I was more shocked when going back to my car parked in the market car park, he gave a ticket to a car parked in a genuine space whose 'crime' was one wheel was just over the white line but which was causing no obstruction whatsoever. The couple with two children on returning to their car were as equally dumbfounded as to why they would have a ticket. Again the parking attendant had taken pictures which leads me to believe that he knows his actions could easily be questioned - Jobsworth is the polite word for this individual.

In this current climate when any trade our local businesses is getting is a bonus, why do we have someone jeopardising this when people are genuinely parking in actual assigned spaces?

Are these attendants employees of Warrington council? If so I suggest that my council tax could be better spent.

Positive on teenagers

M. Clarke

The start of half term has seen the skateboard area in Ridgway Grundy Park suffer yet again from a daubing, and this time the graffiti is particularly offensive. During my regular walk through Ridgeway Grundy park, however, I was amazed at the sight of 4 young people trying their hardest to CLEAN OFF the graffiti.

The teenagers I saw that afternoon had obviously seen the problem and gone home to bring buckets, scrubbing brushes and washing up liquid in an attempt to remove the graffiti. In the freezing cold, wet, miserable weather they struggled on, unfortunately without much success - it was too difficult a task.

The words and pictures have since been painted over presumably by another park user. I would just like to thank those young people for TRYING, and for reminding us all that most young people do not want to be associated with the vandalism and the writing of this terrible graffiti. I did speak to the young people, to thank them and to say how impressed I was. Only they know who they are, and I hope they feel proud that their efforts, although unsuccessful, have not gone unnoticed.
