THE fantastic success of Lymm Festival - especially the Historic Transport Day, once again showed what a vibrant village we have and added further weight to the campaign for a heritage centre.

Work is on going behind the scenes to help deliver a heritage centre and although it is too soon to report exact details, I believe a heritage centre is now more likely to become a reality rather than a distant dream.

It would be just reward for those who have dedicated so much time to making Lymm the unique village it is.

What a rich history we have and it is well worth having a permanent focal point for it.

After just three years, Lymm Historic Transport Day is now right up there as one of the highlights of the year - alongside Lymm Duck Race, Lymm May Queen, Lymm Festival and Dickensian Day.

To Alan and Su Williams and the band of volunteers and May Queen and Dickensian organiser Steve Harper- I salute you.

What you guys are doing for the village and the local economy is second to none - and your efforts are now being replicated in other surrounding villages.

So my message to local traders and businesses is - next time these guys come knocking on your doors, seeking support, dig deep.

On a more negative note - if you have any policing issues please let us know.

The policing system has now been centralised with all community police officers and beat bobbies operating out of central Warrington!

How this can be an improvement for outlying areas like Lymm, appears to defy logic.

Finally enjoy the holiday season - we will soon be counting down to Christmas!

Brainwave charity Golf Day

HIGH Legh Golf and Country Club was the setting for a Charity Golf Day organised by Alister Cook and his wife, Victoria on behalf of Brainwave's Northwest Centre.

Alister designed 'The Golf Waltz' competition around the course at High Legh. The 23 teams of four who participated in the event thoroughly enjoyed the day and raised much appreciated funds for the Birchwood based charity which works with children with very significant developmental delay.

For more information about Brainwave and the work they do please contact Joanne Freeman, the Community Manager, at joannefreeman@brainwave.org.uk

Concert raises £1,500 – and loads of groceries – for foodbank

A CONCERT organised by former Lymm High School pupil Meera Maharaj has raised more than £1,500 for the Warrington Food Bank – plus 18 crates of groceries.

Flautist Meera, currently studying at the Royal Northern College of Music in Manchester put together a quartet of friends from the college to present a programme of music for flute, piano and 'cello at St Wilfrid's Church, Grappenhall.

They played works by Brahms, Haydn, Debussy, Dvorak and others to a packed church.

It was the second year Meera had brought friends from RNCM to Grappenhall to perform in aid of the Food Bank and Meera was delighted the event brought in more money than last year, when some £1,200 was raised.

This year the event was particularly poignant as the musicians dedicated the concert to the memory of local minister and founding manager of the Food Bank Dr John Dolan, who died recently.

Meera said: "He really loved classical music and gave us lots of encouragement. We were very pleased to dedicate our event to his memory, recognising the wonderful work he did for local people going hungry."

"It has been such fun putting the programme of music together and we had a very warm, appreciative audience on the night who were lovely to play for.

"All the performers are my friends from the Royal Northern College of Music and they enjoyed the chance to come away from the city.

"Jeremy and Matt, our pianists, are from Australia and Hong Kong, so they enjoyed visiting the historic villages of Lymm and Grappenhall. They couldn't believe the contrast with Manchester and enjoyed a well-deserved traditional pint in the pub afterward the concert!"

Ken McDermott, chairman of the Foodbank said: "Meera and friends used their wonderful talents to the full, keeping the audience enthralled, whilst raising funds and stocks for Warrington Foodbank. I am encouraged to see such efforts from young musicians to benefit others. Efforts like these help us provide the 50,000 plus meals that went to local people last year."

Rugby legend backs club's grassroots appeal

LYMM Rugby Club's fundraising for the Lymm Grass Roots Clubhouse Appeal is well under way, with over 400 guests attending a Sportsman's Evening in the summer marquee and entertained by Welsh International and British Lion legend Phil Bennett.

Regaling the enraptured audience with many hilarious rugby tales, Phil also took time to congratulate Lymm RFC for being such a great example of grass roots rugby.

"This is the kind of club where you can spend all your life, learning the game, then playing it for years and having a great time. I truly admire what is happening here and wish you all every success. You have a gem of a rugby club!"

Outgoing Club President Simon Plumb commented: "It was a pleasure to welcome, and listen to, a real hero of the rugby world. Phil, more than anyone, understands the culture and spirit of a community rugby club and he was both hugely supportive and complimentary."

Where reputation matters

A perfect venue for a perfect day – that's official!

BRIDES have given a local hotel their blessing naming it top wedding venue for a third year.

The picturesque Mere Court Hotel was voted Best Wedding Venue 2015 in the County Brides magazine award-scheme.

More than 120 couples tie the knot each year at the country house hotel which blends traditional character with up-to-the-minute facilities.

Located near Lymm, Mere Court Hotel has an equally romantic past. It was originally built as a wedding present for William and Amy Dunkerley in 1903 and was lovingly restored as a 4-star deluxe country house hotel, conference centre and AA Rosette fine-dining restaurant set in seven acres of gardens.

Wedding coordinator Fiona Walton said: "We are delighted to be named Cheshire's top wedding venue for the third year. We make every effort to ensure couples are given a day they can truly look back on."

"One big difference is that we stage only one wedding in a day which means couples have this beautiful venue as their 'home' for their special day. From the moment we meet, we are dedicated to making it a day they can call the best of their lives."

Treasured memories begin when couples make their first visit to the venue. A guided tour takes in the stunning gardens and ornamental lake – all a perfect backdrop for wedding photography.

Rooms include two four-poster bed suites with views across the gardens.

Centrally located within easy reach of motorway networks, the hotel has played host to many famous faces down the years.

Guests have included former US President Bill Clinton, Ruby Wax, Dawn French, Alan Titchmarsh and Spandau Ballet.

Manager John Murphy said: "It is such a great honour to receive the County Bride's Award for 'Best Venue Cheshire' for the third year running!"

"This award is a great reflection of our continuous commitment to strive for excellence in all our weddings and to excel in our customer service here at Mere Court Hotel."

"It has not only served as proof of our client's satisfaction, but it is great encouragement to all the team here at the hotel to attain even better performances in the future."

For more information on weddings call Fiona on 01565 831005.

Bungalow extension appeal is lost

A LYMM woman has lost an appeal against the decision by Warrington Borough Council to refuse planning consent for a loft conversion to incorporate a dormer extension at a bungalow in Lodge Close.

Paula Le Flohic's application was refused in May last year and involved a proposal to provide three bedrooms and a bathroom in the loft of the bungalow.

Claire Sherratt, an inspector appointed by the Department for Communities and Local Government, said the main issue was the effect the dormer extension would have on neighbouring properties through overlooking and loss of privacy.

She ruled that because of the close relationship between the appeal bungalow and bungalows on Heatley Close, the proposed extension would result in an unacceptable degree of direct overlooking from proposed habitable rooms which currently do not exist.

The current occupiers might well choose to have net curtains, but that could not be relied on and did not justify an extension that would result in intensified and unacceptable levels of overlooking and loss of privacy.

Historic Transport Day brings curtain

LYMM village turned back the clock at the annual Historic Transport Day which brought the curtain down on another fantastic Lymm Festival.

Early rain fall and grey skies cleared to ensure another fabulous event co-ordinated by a team of around 150 volunteers led by organiser Alan Williams.

Town crier Peter Powell was on hand to help launch the event as thousands of people flocked into the village as a parade of classic vehicles, old and some not so old, travelled through the village centre, before exhibiting on the May Queen field, alongside various community groups and organisations.

There was something for everyone with vintage and classic cars, steam engines, motorbikes, model planes and even a collection of prams.

Villagers also got the chance to see Lymm from around 100ft up in the air thanks to Greg Miller and his team at United Powered Access, one of the sponsors of the event, who attempted to help Editor Gary Skentelbery overcome his fear of heights!

Meanwhile Editor's mum Patricia Skentelbery took a trip down memory lane, seeing the first car which she shared with her brother when she was just 17 - a classic Austin.

Margaret Ingham from Friends of Warrington Historic Transporter Bridge, the only one of its kind in the world, was also on hand with a working model made from meccano, to help raise awareness of the campaign to save the bridge.

Su Williams was also on hand at the Fleece, exhibiting items being collected for a proposed heritage centre in the village.

Meanwhile organisers were delighted with the turnout for this year's Lymm Historic Transport Day.

"It was always going to be difficult to top last year" said event Director Alan Williams, "but the addition of the traction engines next to the canal added a whole new dimension of smells and sounds to the glorious sights on the canal". "We are very proud to have staged an event on this scale out of sheer community effort and commitment and to have offered such a fantastic and affordable family day out. And there are so many legacies from an event like this. We have heard of new clubs being created as well as many new friendships being forged within the community not to mention huge benefits to many voluntary and charity organisations from church groups to transport charities that seek to preserve our local transport heritage. To me there were two stars of the show; the village itself- many first-time visitors were so impressed and loved the setting- and the volunteers - so many people who wrote to us afterwards particularly praised the efficiency and the friendly welcome from the whole team.

"All in all another great day". The ten day festival was kicked off in the usual tradition with the annual Food Fest when local restaurants and traders took to the streets to display their cooking skills.

Warrington Business Awards success

THE 2015 Warrington Business awards, held at Lymm Rugby Club was a resounding success and Styles and Co who sponsored one of the awards were delighted to congratulate all of the winners, the finalists and all of the businesses who entered. There were plenty of entries this year and the judges had incredibly tough decisions to make.

Styles & Co would also like to thank the 500 strong, sell-out audience who made it such a memorable evening – in the words of their very own Graeme Hindley (who was also one of the organisers): "Congratulations to all of the winners and finalists at the Warrington Business Awards 2015. The volume and exceptional quality of entrants made it extremely tough for our judges, but we are delighted with the outcome and the accompanying celebrations on Friday night."

"I can't remember the Warrington business community ever having such a celebration before and we can't wait for next year's event! The feedback we have received has been great and we thank everyone involved; not least our headline sponsors, Golden Square and HSBC."

Finally Styles & Co would like to say thank you to all of the other sponsors for making this event a reality and a big congratulations to Qudos Marketing, winners of the 'New Business of the Year' category sponsored by Styles and Co, Pictured right: Who look forward to next year's event and hope to see a host of new faces along with some of the more familiar ones, to continue Warrington's proud tradition of entrepreneurship and business excellence.

More than 100 businesses entered the awards, with three shortlisted for each of the eight categories.

Apprentice of the Year was Lewis Haworth from the Optionis Group, with runners up Jonathan Levy from the Foundation for Peace and Jack Peters from FDR Law.

Besser Energy Limited, Newton Lane, Daresbury, Cheshire

Advertiser's announcement

Electric heating from Germany available in Lymm

Electric heating from Germany is said to be the best in the world.

Like all things German, Besser's electric radiators are synonymous with quality and efficiency. They are purpose built for the coldest winter climates by the most experienced engineers using a mixture of traditional, proven techniques and materials and state of the art facilities and testing methods.

Their electric radiators are fast becoming the most effective heating solution available on the market today and whilst most of their business to date has revolved around replacing outdated night storage heaters, their electric radiators can also offer you everything that you would expect from a conventional modern oil or gas central heating system but without all the ongoing costs of yearly boiler servicing and the constant worry of frozen pipes during really cold weather conditions.

Energy efficient, powerful, fully controllable and maintenance free, their radiators can be used in a single area or controlled as part of a centralised electric heating system with a wireless programmable thermostats.

Call 01925 899215 and ask to speak to Graeme who will be happy to talk you through your options and arrange for your free, no obligation home survey.

Senior appointment at Mulbury Homes

LORNA Senior has joined Lymm-based specialist housing developer Mulbury Homes.

After more than 10 years with a range of national housebuilders, she joins Mulbury as engineering manager from Keepmoat Homes where she procured and managed engineering elements across its sites.

Lorna will guide Mulbury's housing schemes from conception through to completion, including assessing land suitability for construction at the land purchase stage, carrying out technical audits of land plots and procuring technical works prior to site start.

She said: "Mulbury Homes is a flourishing housing developer so I was keen to get on board and take on a new challenge. I'm enjoying the diverse workload of the role so far and I'm looking forward to getting stuck in."

Glyn Barrett, technical manager at Mulbury Homes, said: "We are seeing continued growth in both the social and private rented sectors so Lorna's wealth of experience in the housing industry is just what we need."

Cricketers enjoy best season for years

LYMM Oughtrington Park Cricket Club is enjoying its best season for some years.

At the half-way stage, the club was top of the TACS Partnership Cheshire League second division, 34 points ahead of its nearest rival, Winnington Park.

The 1st XI won nine of its first 12 matches, drawing one and only losing twice. The top two clubs in the division at the end of the season gain promotion to the first division – only one promotion away from the prestigious Vivio Cheshire County League.

Councillors take matters into their own hands!

TOO many signs in Lymm are dirty and difficult to read – and the borough council doesn't get round to cleaning them.

So councillors Bob Barr and Ian Marks decided to take matters into their own hands – literally.

They took buckets and brushes down to the Lower Dam and cleaned up the signs themselves.

Cllr Marks said: "Many of the signs were filthy. Apart from the fact they were difficult to read, they looked terrible and didn't give a good impression of the village.

"The borough council doesn't get round to cleaning them so we did it ourselves.

"It only took a few minutes and they looked so much better."

On a more official level, Lymm Parish Council has reached an agreement with the borough council for litter picking, litter bin emptying and general improvement of the village environment.

The parish council will pay the borough to send a part-time employee to Lymm on Tuesdays and Wednesday to work under the direction of the parish ranger, Tim Baker.
